

Sotirios Karampampas

Sotirios Karampampas holds a BA in Political Science and Public Administration from the National and Kapodistrian University of Athens, a MA in International Politics and Security Studies (awarded with distinction) from the University of Bradford and a PhD in Politics from the University of Sheffield.

He was a Teaching Assistant in the Department of Politics at the University of Sheffield, where he taught undergraduate seminars in Globalisation, Security Studies and US Foreign Policy (2013 – 2018). He also worked as Research Assistant in two European collaborative research projects: namely in LIVEWHAT (<http://www.unige.ch/livewhat/>) (2013 – 2016) and in TransSOL (<https://transsol.eu/>) (2015 – 2018). Finally, he was a Junior Research Assistant at the Institute of International Relations (IDIS) of Panteion University of Social and Political Sciences (2011 – 2012).

His research has been published in a number of international academic journals such as in Acta Politica, British Journal of Sociology, Contemporary European Politics, European Societies, Politics & Policy and Social Movement Studies. He was also invited to contribute a chapter on “The radical left movement, revolutionary groups and SYRIZA: Framing militant dissidence during the Greek crisis” for the edited volume on Radical Left Movements in Europe that came out with Routledge in 2018.

He is member of the Hellenic Political Studies Association (HPSA), the European Consortium for Political Research (ECPR), the Greek Politics Specialist Group (GPSG) of the British Political Studies Association (PSA) as well as a Fellow of Higher Education Academy (HEA).

He speaks English, German, Russian and Spanish.