

Fanis Tzevelekos

He was born in 1993 and lives in Athens. He is a political scientist – international relations expert. Graduate of the Department of Political Science and International Relations of the University of Peloponnese. In the summer of 2016 he conducted his internship in the field of International Relations of the Hellenic Parliament, for which he was honored, while at the same time he worked in the Visitor Service Department of the Stavros Niarchos Foundation Cultural Center (SNFCC), providing useful information to visitors about the modern interactive park of Athens. In 2015 his first article was published in the Millennials Youth / Student Digital Form. He knows excellent English. He has completed his military duties, serving in the Land Forces Infantry. In the recent past, he has worked in the Department of International Cooperation of the Institute of Democracy, Konstantinos Karamanlis, having as a research objective the recording and analysis of political developments in the countries of Southeast Asia.